

Happily Frugal: a financial lifestyle and wise money management workbook

Ch. 4 Having a budget

A budget is the core of financial organization. It is impossible to be frugal without keeping track of your spending. “Budget” is not a negative word. Budgeting is record keeping, planning, and organizing. Think of it as the system you use to organize your personal finances. The better organized you are the farther your money will stretch. The monthly expenses spreadsheet is followed by a budget spreadsheet for your savings. There is also an optional budget for giving.

Since cost of living varies widely throughout the country and every household is unique, I’ve left the spaces blank to allow you to fill in the monetary amount that works for you. You can print this budget freely from my website.
